About Me

I'm Mindy and my family and I are full time travelling photographers and content creators . We share our travels and life online to encourage more families to get out there and explore. Our content is the perfect mix between a raw and real look at family travel life and beautifully curated photography.

We feel we cater the the large audience of families that love to travel, explore and adventure with their kids.

In the past three years we have worked alongside numerous brands in the fashion, tourism and lifestyle industry and love creating both high res images as well as short video, reel style content.

Services

We offer a variety of services including content creation, paid posting, full perpetuity photography services and blog/article writing.

If your interested in viewing our current rate cards please let us know.
